

Take Back Our Lives

12 Feb '22, 10am - 6pm, Baker Street Station

Left Lockdown Sceptics present a day of talks and discussion towards reclaiming sanity in public health and building left opposition to tyranny. The past two years have seen global tech, pharma, governments and media convince us they were liberal, progressive, even 'left' as they crushed our lives and communities with mandates and restrictions. Ordinary people were branded 'right wing' for following the money, examining the research, challenging lockdown-based poverty, engaging with statistics, wishing to control their bodies or questioning authority.

Time to flip the narrative. Take Back Our Lives will facilitate those on the left to network, regroup, hear from eminent scientists and experts on data corruption (and its discontents) and together move forward from the past two years' chaos.

Speakers include:

- Professor Sunetra Gupta, Convenor of the Great Barrington Declaration, Professor of Theoretical Epidemiology at the Dept Zoology, University of Oxford
- Dr Jenny Goodman, a specialist in Nutritional and Environmental medicine
- Dr Matteo Pizzo, NHS psychiatrist
- Representatives from NHS100k, Together Declaration,(tbc) Big Brother Watch, feminist, socialist and other effective campaigns.

To register, visit the website leftlockdownsceptics.com or email wqlm@yahoo.com. If this is your first LLS event, please include a couple of sentences about yourself, your main concerns, and what sessions or workshops you would like to see from the day.

Location: London, near Baker Street Tube Station.

Directions to be emailed 4th Feb.

Cost: £10 on the door (more if you can/less if you can't).

leftlockdownsceptics.com

 @LLSceptics

